The Solemnity of
All Saints

“I am the resurrection and the life; whoever believes in me, even if he dies, will live, and everyone who lives and believes in me will never die.” John 11:25-26

The Commemoration of
All the Faithful Departed

St. Anthony of Padua, 101 E Virginia Ave Effingham, IL 217-347-7129

“From the Pastor’s Desk”

Dear St. Anthony Parish Family:

As Election Day arrives, it is crucial to examine our beliefs with regard to the policies of the parties we vote to put in office. Pope Francis was clear in recent remarks that neither presidential candidate completely proposes policies in accord with Church teaching. That being said, we should not use that as an excuse not to vote, because the policies of the candidates elected will have an effect on us and our culture. Of course, the Church cannot endorse a party or a candidate. But an examination of party platforms can help us understand that there are issues we must hold dearly and for which we must advocate recognizing where the two major party platforms differ widely. While we can respectfully disagree on issues such as which economic policies are more advantageous, as Catholics we should be unified about reverencing human life, and not celebrating abortion. We should strongly demand that our religious liberties, such as what we teach in our schools, be free from governmental control. We should shun the advancement of agendas which undermine marriage and family life. We should vote to keep religious voices in the public square and not to silence their impact on our nation and culture.

Many have commented about finding the issue of immigration as difficult to morally navigate. The National Catholic Register recently summarized a good clarification on Catholic Church Teaching on the issue as it affects our Southern border with Mexico: “Catholic social teaching over time has been consistently clear that a sovereign nation has a right to manage and control its borders. Several popes have articulated this portion of the teaching on immigration, including Pope Francis, who called the situation at the Mexican border “a serious problem.” The caveat, however, is how a nation manages migration to its borders, not if it does, and therein lies the rub. As appropriate, the Church places the human rights and human dignity of the person — created in the image of God — as the primary concern for governments, a position that often places Church leaders and advocates on the opposite side of some immigration opponents. Pope Benedict XVI, in his 2010 message for World Day of Migrants and Refugees, succinctly articulates the Church’s position: “The Church recognizes the right [to emigrate] in every human person...At the same time, States have the right to regulate migration flows and defend their own frontiers, always guaranteeing respect due to the dignity of each and every person.” In other words, the sovereign can place limits on migration, provided it enforces its laws as humanely as possible. Given these parameters, the Church would naturally oppose many of the punitive measures that have been proposed to control the nation’s borders, such as unnecessary detention and expulsion without due process, both of which can violate human dignity. The Church has not opposed, however, the right of a nation to remove an individual who, properly adjudicated, is not legally authorized to be present in a country, provided it is done consistent with human dignity and human rights.”

Let us ask for prudence and may we ask God to guide us and all voting this week!

Fr. Peter Harman

Please pray for Restoration of Religious Liberty, those who are ill, those in hospitals and nursing homes, those recovering from surgery, and all those serving our country and also for:
